

In 2008 we made a collage which was a sketch to a deeper longing to create a performance in and for the Kamihohikawa studio of Kazuo Ohno. It was built by Ohno to create and practice his work.

In 2010 Sarah Vanhee approached us to take part in her project called "The Great Public Sale of unrealized but brilliant Ideas". We contributed with this idea.

We wrote to Sarah on Oct. 25, 2010

Hello Sarah,

A wish, an idea that dates from 2008.

The place is Kazuo Ohno's studio in Kamihoshikawa. The source material is a picture taken from a book.

We transplanted ourselves there. Please see the collage attached.

Could this become real?

Best,

Prinz Gholam

On November 26, 2010, the day of the auction, this unrealized idea went to Pierre Ravenel.

(Prinz Gholam, Wolfgang Prinz and Michel Gholam, Berlin, mail@prinzgholam.com)